

Minnesota Facilities, Hospitals Furnishing ADI Services Must Be Accredited By 8/1/2013

IAC DESIGNATED AS AN APPROVED ACCREDITING ORGANIZATION

MAY 1, 2013 | Effective August 1, 2013, Minnesota facilities and hospitals that furnish advanced diagnostic imaging (ADI) services [inclusive of Nuclear/[ET, MRI and CT] must be accredited by an organization approved by the US Department of Health and Human Services in order to receive reimbursement.

Without accreditation through one of the approved organizations by August 1, 2013, your facility and/or hospital will not receive reimbursement. The Intersocietal Accreditation Commission (IAC) has been designated as an approved accrediting organization.

To view the official chaptered version of the Minnesota Bill 2276, click here. Or you can view this and other active policies on the IAC MRI website (intersocietal.org/mri) by selecting Reimbursement > Payment Policies in the green menu bar at the top.